3.13.1 Introduction

The ADHS/DBHS system of care offers a full assortment of covered behavioral health services to meet the individual needs of persons seeking behavioral health treatment. The continuum of available services includes supervised and semi-supervised facility-based care, a wide array of treatment services and innovative support services. Covered services assist and encourage each person to achieve and maintain the highest possible level of health and self-sufficiency. The provision of covered services is contingent on each person's current eligibility status and, for some persons, may be based on available funding.

PM Form 3.13.1 illustrates the available covered services for each population of T/RBHA enrolled persons. These services must be provided by AHCCCS registered providers or ADHS-only providers.

This matrix is a highly condensed summary of available services and their general reimbursability. It is recommended that behavioral health providers reference the ADHS/DBHS Behavioral Health Covered Services Guide. This Guide also includes other matrices as appendices, which provide other types of useful information.
